On September 7, 2025, Daniel T. Chu informed Origin Bancorp, Inc. (the “Company”) and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Origin Bank (the “Bank”), of his resignation from the Board of Directors of the Company and the Bank, effective immediately. There were no disagreements between Mr. Chu and the Company or the Bank.

Mr. Chu serves as Chief Executive Officer of Tricolor Holdings, LLC (“Tricolor”), a customer of the Bank. The Bank currently has total loan commitments to Tricolor of approximately $30.1 million to Tricolor, which are primarily secured by notes receivable. Although these loans are currently performing, the Bank has placed these loans on non-accrual in connection with the Chapter 7 bankruptcy case filed by Tricolor on September 10, 2025. The Bank is currently evaluating the status and valuation of the collateral and any necessary additional provision for credit losses relating to these loans, and the Bank plans to pursue all available remedies to protect the Bank’s interests.

Forward-Looking Statements

When used in filings by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”), in the Company’s press releases or other public or stockholder communications, and in oral statements made with the approval of an authorized executive officer, the words or phrases “anticipates,” “believes,” “estimates,” “expects,” “foresees,” “intends,” “plans,” “projects,” and similar expressions or future or conditional verbs such as “could,” “may,” “might,” “should,” “will,” and “would” or variations of such terms are intended to identify “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements are subject to certain risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from historical earnings and those presently anticipated or projected. Factors that might cause such a difference include among other things: the impact of management’s conclusion, in consultation with the Audit Committee, that a material weakness existed in the Company’s internal control procedures over financial reporting; the evaluation and implementation of remediation efforts designed and implemented to enhance the Company’s control environment; the potential identification of one or more additional material weaknesses in the Company’s internal control of which the Company is not currently aware or that have not yet been detected; the potential identification of one or more material weaknesses in the Company’s consolidated financial statements of which the Company is not currently aware or that have not yet been detected; and those described more fully in the Company’s periodic filings with the SEC.

The Company does not undertake and specifically declines any obligation - to update or revise any forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances that occur after the date of such statements or to reflect the occurrence of anticipated or unanticipated events.
